Plans Underway

To Boost Coffee's Peanut Industry

Plans are underway to boost Coffee County's $2 million peanut industry—ranked second as its farm income producer.

These plans include setting up test demonstrations to try to get rid of one of the peanut crop's worst thieves. A random check of peanut fields by Auburn University Assistant County Agent H.B. Thompson showed that 60 percent of the fields were infested with root knot nematodes.

According to Thompson, the nematodes are too small to see with the naked eye, but the damage they do can be seen in plant growth and in reduced yields.

"The samples we had checked contained as high as 544 root knot nematodes in each one-half pint of soil. We decided that on-the-farm demonstrations would be the best method of getting this problem," he says.

Thompson has five demonstrations for nematode control located over the county. These demonstrations are located on the farms of Harris, James Parris, Frank Britt, James Parris, Hardie Kelley, and Wilton Bryan.

On some of these demonstrations, we are using Thimet along with Nemagon for nematode control. We are using Thimet in this nematode control experiment because some people say that it will control nematodes. We want to see firsthand whether or not this is true.

The demonstrations will be watched closely during the year and accurate yield checks will be made at harvest.

"We know that nematodes will reduce peanut yields, and these demonstrations are an attempt to determine how much reduction occurs and the best methods of controlling the pests," he concludes.

Burn your initials into the wooden handles of your tools by first printing the initials with finger nail polish. Set the polish aflame before it dries.

If your electric fan needs cleaning, first disconnect it. Wipe the blades and motor casing with a cloth and remove dirt in a detergent solution and then wring out.

Cork stuck in a bottle? Dip a cloth in very hot water and wrap it around the neck of the bottle. The glass will expand and allow the cork to slip free.

A worn-out hot-water bottle makes a good kneeling pad when scrubbing or weeding. Fill the bottle with foam rubber or old stockings.

Here's a good way to get rid of an unpleasant odor in a room. Put a few drops of scented deodorizer or perfume on the electric light bulb. When the light gets hot, the room will have a clean, sweet smell.

With transparent tape, fasten coins for school children to the inside of their lunch-box, pencil box or brief case.

Starch will give cotton bedspreads new body and will keep them clean longer.

Limes will stay fresh longer in the refrigerator if they are kept in a tightly closed jar.

To break down over flowing suds, sprinkle them with table salt.

Pine bark beetles are the most destructive of pine insects.

Here's a good way to remove grease spots from clothes. Rub fresh unsalted grease into the spots and wash immediately.

Put a piece of wax paper on the stove before cooking foods that are likely to pop. The wax paper will eliminate numerous wipings with a dishcloth.

You can remove rust from leaky faucets with vinegar.

If your electric iron warms up slowly or if the lights flicker when you turn them on, you may have an overloaded circuit.

Society Editor
Back On Job
After Absence

I wish to say thanks to those who phoned a few items to the Clipper for the society column last week. I am at home again and will be glad to have anyone call to give me news at anytime.

On Friday night, May 31, my husband, Will Kendrick, became suddenly very sick, and we carried him by ambulance to Gibson Hospital in Enterprise around midnight. He was able to return home Monday, June 10, and is now spending several hours each day at his office in the courthouse. His illness explains why I was unable to report for the Clipper last week.

TRAVELING

"SEE ALABAMA FIRST"

BY JIM HART
ASS'T DIRECTOR
ALABAMA PETROLEUM CO., INC.Guntersville Boat
Race Festival

Jaycees are traditionally known for their ability to "get the job done" and to provide that "something extra" which always makes any program they sponsor just a little more interesting and enjoyable, so when you pair an active Jaycee Club with a boat race festival you can almost bet your last dime it will offer those who attend a tremendous weekend of excitement and entertainment.

Such is the case for the weekend of June 22 and 23 in Guntersville. On beautiful Lake Guntersville the 24th annual Boat Race Festival with unlimited hydroplanes from all over the United States. This promises to offer boat and water sports lovers a chance to see this country's greatest aquatic racers in action.

For the first time in the South, huge unlimited hydroplanes capable of straightaway speeds up to 100 m.p.h. will compete. Also expected to compete in the regatta is the world record holder "Miss U.S." which set the existing world mile record on Guntersville Lake April 17, 1962, at 200.440 m.p.h.

The races are not the entire story though. Regatta weekend will start Friday night with the annual "Miss Guntersville Lake" beauty pageant, the winner of which will represent Alabama in the National "Miss Sun Fun" Contest. Included Saturday and Sunday will be performances by skydivers, a water ski show, and the annual Boat Race Dance. For a complete rundown of the weekend's events write to Guntersville Jaycees, P.O. Box 52, Guntersville, Ala. 35906.

Make plans for a weekend of fun in the sun at Guntersville June 22-23 during the 24th annual Boat Race Festival. This is the type of entertainment that every member of the family will enjoy.

In the U. S., the biggest share of the food dollar goes for meat. In India and Japan, it's spent for grain.

Retail food sales totaled $54 billion last year. Alabama milk production was up four per cent from 1961 to 1962. It totaled more than 580 million pounds.

Long-time Negro friends and allies of the Kennedy's began to holler foul against the administration's civil rights policies and performance. Came the Birmingham riots, and the tax bill suddenly ceased to be the administration's top legislative objective. Top spot went to civil rights.

That is how he got caught in a squeeze play. His Republican opponents and his former Negro allies put on the pressure for Kennedy to propose civil rights legislation so drastic in nature as to arouse southern Democrats to a frenzy of opposition.

Kennedy postponed civil rights legislation in 1961-62 to avoid trouble with southern congressmen that would have delayed or defeated much of his other legislative program. He had hopes of getting through 1963 also without antagonizing the South beyond endurance.

The President's strategy worked in 1961-62. It has flopped in 1963. The big political question is what it all means for 1964.

Kennedy Caught

In Political
Squeeze

President Kennedy is caught in a political squeeze play on civil rights, and made public in a United Press story last week. The Kennedy administration trapped itself.

The President invited his current political enemies by making a mistaken political decision at the out set of his administration. This was to ignore for two or three years the civil rights campaign promises that contributed to his election. Whatever may be the morality of making and ignoring promises to any group of voters, this decision by the President in 1961 was bad politics. It led directly to the Kennedy administration's present predicament. The decision looked pretty good at first. After deciding against immediate action to enact into law all of the 1960 Democratic campaign promises on civil rights, Kennedy concentrated, instead, on voting rights with authority already at hand. This high policy decision was accompanied by some of the most effective race relations politicking ever observed in the United States. The President made Negroes socially welcome at the White House.

He names Negroes to federal office such as they had not before enjoyed. By word and deed, the President emphasized to the Negro community his active and friendly interest. By surprise visits and surprise telephone calls, Kennedy kept before U.S. Negroes an image of a president who also was a warm ally.

That was a lot more than any previous president ever had done to make the Negro feel that the head man loved him. And for about 18 months the Kennedy strategy worked like a charm. In fact, this was about what it was made of: charm. Protests against the scuttling of 1960 campaign promises were muted if aired at all.

All was well, politically, for the President on the Negro front. And that was important, too, because the President needed the Negroes to be elected in 1960 and probably will need them to be reelected next year. But all was not well. The Negroes took to the streets. President Kennedy began talking anxiously to White House visitors about a crisis in race relations.

Long-time Negro friends and allies of the Kennedy's began to holler foul against the administration's civil rights policies and performance. Came the Birmingham riots, and the tax bill suddenly ceased to be the administration's top legislative objective. Top spot went to civil rights.

Annual Fishing Rodeo

8 - DAY RODEO OFFERS PRIZES GALORE TO FISHERMEN WITH TAGGED FISH.
FISHING STARTS AT LAKE LORENE JUNE 29

The Elba Jaycees will sponsor the 4th annual Southeast Alabama Fishing Rodeo beginning Saturday, June 29, at Lake Lorene (Sam Sawyer Fish Pond) Saturday, June 29, and continue for 8 days, ending Sunday, July 7th.

Sixty-seven valuable prizes are being offered to those who catch tagged fish. An advertisement appears on another page of this newspaper listing the prizes and the firm giving the prize. Some of the prizes offered are valued up to as much as $200.00. The Fishing Rodeo committee states that there will be boats available and calls attention to the fact that the Lake Lorene is a very nice place to fish. It is being reported that the fish at the pond are really biting these days.

There will be no additional charges to participate in the rodeo. A year a regular $1.00 permit will cover the cost of fishing as well as participating in the prizes. To receive the prize the tagged

Wallace Blasts Federal Dictators,
Challenges Other State Officials

THOUSANDS CHEER WALLACE'S "PUT UP OR SHUT UP, STAND UP OR SIT DOWN" POLICY

Thousands gathered in Florida Monday to see, hear, and shake the hand of Governor George Wallace. Wallace was the principle speaker at the 93rd occasion of the famed Masonic celebration. Renewing his pledge to "stand up for Alabama," Wallace said "the hope of the future of this nation rests upon the shoulders of the people of Alabama and the south."

"The eyes of the world are upon Alabama right now. We need to fight against a centralized government of dictators," he said.

Wallace said the most important aspect of the Masonic Order is belief in God. He urged the Masons to take a lead in a national fight for real civil rights, which he identified as liberty to assemble, speak, and worship, trial by jury, and the right to own property.

The governor urged the people of Alabama to refrain from violence during continuing racial tensions in the state. "We are tired of people who demonstrate and cause trouble," the governor told the throng of people. The governor strongly urged that mob violence was no solution.

Wallace continuously ridiculed the federal government for failing to cite him for contempt after he stood in the door of the University of Alabama earlier this month to halt integration of the school.

"The Justice Department should have cited me for contempt and tried me in court," Wallace said. "I wanted to test some questions in the court and that is why I defied the marshals."

"But they didn't go into the courts because that wasn't fast enough for them," he said. "They brought the Army in instead. I resent politically smart to take the other side," Wallace said. "You must put up or shut up, stand up or sit down," Wallace contended. "And those who don't stand up in Alabama ought to be removed from public office."

"You know who I'm talking about, you read about them the papers," he said. "These people who are pussyfooting around, these cowards, ought to be taken out of the front lines of the fight."

Wallace blasts were aimed at Attorney General Richmond Flowers, who in his somewhat tiresome manner, arrived late and sneaked into a back seat on the platform. Flowers afterwards shied away from the crowds.

Wallace warned the people that unless this trend is reversed "the federal police will be running every business in the country."
